

2nd German American Energy Conference 2010

March 22 - 23, 2010 in Berlin

Thomas Chrometzka

Head of International Affairs

German Solar Industry Association (BSW-Solar)

Education

Born 1980 in Düsseldorf, Germany, Thomas Chrometzka studied Political Science and Communications in Germany and Australia. In 2006 he graduated and holds a Master in Political Sciences.

Professional Career

After his graduation he was Programme Manager of the „European Master in Renewable Energy“, a study programme administered by the “European Renewable Energy Research Centres Agency” (EUREC) in Brussels in 2007.

Later that year he changed to the German Solar Industry Association in Berlin where he took up this job as International Affairs Officer. At BSW-Solar, Thomas worked on European projects, solar policy analysis and global PV market development. He has given numerous presentations within the Federal Government’s renewable energy export initiative at international fairs, congresses, and other events.

In 2009, Thomas became Head of International Affairs at BSW-Solar, responsible for promoting the German Solar Industry abroad and contributing to creating favorable framework conditions for solar globally. Thomas is the coordinator of a European project “PV LEGAL” aiming at removing bureaucratic barriers for PV system installations in Europe
